Letter from New York

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, September [illegible] 1865.

POLITICAL.

Affairs continue to create a great deal of interest. The Republicans have held their State Convention, and, like their opponents, nominated a very excellent ticket and adopted a strong platform. The tone of the latter is very similar to that of the Democrats, alike as they are [illegible] that a choice between them can no party [illegible]. The main question before the Republican Convention was that of negro suffrage, and that they wisely let alone. [illegible] The War [illegible] contended for the nomination [illegible] the forthcoming [illegible].

General Francis C. Barlow, one of our bravest and most [illegible] is the [illegible] Secretary of State. A [illegible] of General Barlow was published a few days since in our columns. [illegible] While Generals Martindale and Barnum [illegible] Howland, all officers of merit and distinction [illegible] other positions thereon. The result of the election is very doubtful. Both parties claim it will go for their side, and for myself I think it will be a closely contested affair.

The Democrats have, however, had a small steel firebrand thrown into their midst by the [illegible] portion of the party who, forming themselves "State Rights Democrats" held a meeting in the city [illegible] and all [illegible] denouncing the platform and ticket nominated at Albany, in the strongest terms, and left the propriety of nominating a ticket to themselves to a committee. The malcontents are not very formidable in numbers, though they partially make up for their deficiency in that [illegible] their determined [illegible] anything having even a smack of abolitionism in it. They cannot appreciate yet that slavery is a dead issue, and are in for a set of political [illegible].

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD

The President of the United States has accepted of the new grade of the Pacific Railroad from the Missouri river to the Platte, on which a great force is now working, and of which 100 miles will be completed by the time the act of Congress requires. A report made of the latter end of [illegible] to Secretary Harlan, by Springer Harbaugh, Esq., [illegible] of the five Government directors of the road, says: "The road bed, where completed, is well finished up and about [illegible] feet in width, with side ditches at two feet deep, four feet wide at the top, and two feet wide at the bottom, with five or six feet berme in the deep cuts, which are generally from thirty to forty feet wide. The subsoil through which the cuts are made is an argillaceous earth, little liable to be gullied by rain or frost. No gravel suitable for ballast has been discovered along or even contiguous to the line of road; consequently, the common earth will have to be used for ballasting material. Laborers within a short time have become very abundant. Mr Henry, the general Superintendent for the contractors, assured me that by the 1st of October the grading and bridging, with the exception of the bridge over South Fork, will be completed on the first one hundred miles. I think this assurance can be made good. Material for the track had been delivered at Omaha at date of July 10th, as follows: 9,000 cross ties, 7,256 bars of railroad iron, 7,750 railroad chairs, 4,000 pounds spikes, and on board of steamers on the Missouri river, between St. Louis and Omaha, 1,582 bars railroad iron, 3,710 railroad chairs, and 184,400 pounds railroad spikes. In addition thereto, 40,000 cross ties are delivered on the banks of the Missouri, twelve miles above Omaha, which are being rafted down to that place. The company have now two full corps of engineers engaged in making further surveys through the Rocky Mountains. The company had on the 10th of July one locomotive at Omaha, two on the Hannibal and St. Joseph road, and two on the Chicago, St. Louis and Alton road, and seventy platform cars also en route to Omaha. The next two or three hundred miles of road can be built at a small cost compared with the rate at which the first one hundred miles was built." This is a very encouraging report of the operations of the company, and it stimulates the belief that the road will be completed to the Pacific in seven or eight years, and possibly sooner, if no [illegible] should be found on the route.

OUR INSURANCE COMPANIES

are greatly exercised over their recent losses, and well they may be. Two fires have occurred this week which have alone called upon them for between two and three millions of dollars, saying nothing of the minor losses of tens of thousands by fires of lesser note. They are discussing the risks which actually exist in insuring goods in warehouses. They complain of the manner in which our warehouses are constructed; they complain of the watchmen employed to guard them; and last, though not least, they complain of our new paid fire department. This last complaint attracts much attention, from the fact that the Insurance Companies were one of the main instruments by which the system of our fire department was changed. It is a fact, nevertheless, New York has suffered severely from fires since the system was changed, and yet it may not be the result of the change at all. The firemen have been promptly on the ground, and worked assiduously when there. But there are those who claim that the duties of a fireman have to be learned as much as any particular branch of business, and that a slight mistake will result most disastrously. There is reason to believe there is much truth in this, and there may have been a great mistake made in changing the system and putting the department in new hands. The change was called for on economical, as well as other grounds. Yet the estimates for expenses greatly exceeded those of former years, and if fires are to take place which consume property at the rate of half a million and four millions each, and that through the change, it is not to be wondered at if the Insurance Companies become greatly exercised.

THE FENIANS

of this city chuckle not a little over the alarm felt by the English Government, as shown through the London Times and other organs of the aristocracy, concerning the movements of the Fenians. They explain this alarm by citing not alone the fact that the movement is the best organized one ever started in Ireland's behalf, but the equally important one that as soon as the first blow is struck our Government will acknowledge the rebellious government and award them the rights of belligerents, that vessels without number will be furnished them for naval operations and for blockade running, and that while the Fenians in Ireland attend the attention of the home government, those in this country and elsewhere will [illegible] British possessions, which will make short work of any attempt to suppress the movement. This is but a slight part of the programme, they say.

A NEW TELEGRAPH ROUTE TO CALIFORNIA

Some years ago the Southern Pacific Railroad route was a favorite theme of the journals published in the States which subsequently broke their allegiance to the Government of the United States, and engaged in the late unholy rebellion. Of course the telegraph was to keep up with the railroad. The Southern people, however, had use enough for their money in their subscriptions to compulsory [illegible] and until very lately nothing has been heard of the scheme, and even the railroad route slumbers in oblivion. The telegraph, I learn, however, is in competent hands, and you need not be surprised to find yourselves ere the year 1867 in instantaneous communication with New Orleans. From Col. [illegible] C. Van Duser, who is a military and civil charge of all the telegraph lines in the Southwest, I learn that the telegraphs in that department are rapidly multiplying, and that one is completed from Vicksburg via Shreveport to Galveston, Texas, and will ere long reach San Antonio and Brownsville. From San Antonio, I learn, it is contemplated to stretch a line via Presidio del Norte to Chihuahua, and Sonora to San Diego, in California, whence a line already runs to San Francisco. The route will as indicated avoid the deserts of Arizona, and it is claimed will be through a country presenting few or no obstacles to the construction and proper repair of a telegraph line. The Colonel, whose headquarters are at Nashville, assures me that the line will be in operation in fifteen months, and that it can easily be made a reliable one at all seasons of the year.

THE COTTON CROP.

From the same authority I am informed that a large portion of the [illegible] cotton in the [illegible] market while the [illegible] Compared with what was planted before the war broke out, but a small area of the cotton growing region is [illegible] this year and the crop will therefore necessarily be a small one. The reason is obvious. The large Southern slave holders have for many years controlled affairs in that section and to keep their control have resorted to every [illegible] from the United States the [illegible] of the two bodies of producers [illegible] the white trash were unable to compete with their more aristocratic brethren who counted their [illegible] by hundreds and thousands and were in great numbers compelled to seek new regions beyond the Mississippi. Even then their industry was not rewarded, for there too they came into competition with the rival [illegible] These poor whites were forced into the armies of the Confederate States, and have been to a great extent swept away by the bullet and the sword. The larger slaveholders have [illegible] their property and are convinced or pretend to be that free labor is unavoidable, consequently they have planted little and but a small crop will be produced until as is likely within a few years, northern energy and capital produce their legitimate fruits, and raise the reputation of the Southern States as a cotton growing region far beyond what it has ever been even when "Cotton was King."

THE LABORING CLASSES

The movement among the laboring classes for the abridgement of the hours of labor to a uniform standard of eight hours per day and for the protection of the operative system of labor gains strength. The associations of this State held a convention at Albany a few days ago which revealed an organization large in numbers and devoted to the purposes for which it was formed. Similar organizations exist in other States, and it will be strange if they do not ultimately succeed. The best feature of the matter is the careful eschewing of all politicians and a strict confinement to their own business. Hitherto but little attention has been paid to movements of mankind or employees for the local associations worked quietly and were hardly known outside of their own immediate circle. Their work, however, has been thorough so far as it went, and the formation of regular State organizations will give them power, if not to compel an acquiescence in their demands, at least to command a proper attention on the part of capitalists to the requirements of the laboring classes, for capital and labor should go hand in hand.

CAMELS IN AMERICA

Efforts are again being made to introduce the camel into this country for service on the great plains. An agent will soon leave for the old world to make purchases for importation. It is believed that ten thousand of them would be serviceable west of the Mississippi.

A CASE OF MALPRACTICE

A startling case of malpractice was developed this week, even for this city of crime and sensation. A young woman named Lucy Saqhendorf from Bearsville, Ulster county, died on Tuesday night in consequence of an abortion performed by one Dr. Grindle. Before her death a ceremony of marriage took place with James J. Hicks of Buffalo, who has since been arrested. Grindle and wife are also in custody. An examination revealed the fact that their house contained no less than four [illegible] patients.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

It used to be an old saying that a person might as soon be struck by lightning as draw a prize in a lottery. Yet a case is now on trial for the recovery of a large sum of money, alleged to have been drawn by a young woman named Anne Lorking, who went out to Havana as a washer woman and returned rich, only to deposit her money in the hands of an alleged swindling member of the legal profession. The daily developments of the case are such as efforts are made to show that the claimant is anything but virtuous, with the object of impeaching her testimony. The amount involved is $63,000. The woman is said to have drawn at various times and in different amounts nearly $100,000 in the lottery.

CITY RAILROAD CONDUCTORS

An investigation by three of the leading railroads of Philadelphia fixed upon one hundred and thirty of their employees the guilt of appropriating the company's money. One hundred thousand dollars are said to have been pocketed by these people within a year or so. The drivers and stable boys, it is also said, extorted a good deal of money from the conductors, probably for the sake of keeping their tongues still. Everybody believes the same thing is done here on a still greater scale.

DEATH OF MRS. LAWRENCE

Julia Montaudevert, widow of the famous Capt. Lawrence of the late war with England memory, died at Newport on the 10th inst. in her seventy-eighth year. Her remains were interred a few days subsequently under the monument in Trinity church yard, New York, where rest the ashes of her brave husband.

A NEGRO IN THE JURY BOX

Brooklyn enjoys the distinction of being the first city to put a negro into the jury box. This occurred about a week ago in the city court. It was a curious sight, and excited much comment. But the colored citizen was a property holder, and as such being had the right to vote, and of course to be a juryman.

ANOTHER SOLDIERS' FAIR

Philadelphia is to have another great fair for the benefit of the brave men who have been brought home from the battle field maimed, sick and helpless, hundreds of whom, shameful as it may be to record, are compelled to resort to begging to obtain a livelihood. Good for Philadelphia. The idea should become general, for as much good can come out of it as from the great sanitary fairs of not long since.

THE DEATH OF CAPT. MARSHALL, the originator of the celebrated Liverpool "Black Ball" line of packets, has created a universal feeling of regret. All the flags of the shipping were at half mast on the day of the funeral, and appropriate notice of the sad event was taken by the prominent clubs and societies. We related that Capt. Marshall had been a consistent and persistent anti-slavery man since 1826, when he received his first impressions.

THE CORPS OF FEMALE ARMY NURSES

This was one of the most useful auxiliaries of our great war for the suppression of the rebellion. The care and attention and even motherly and sisterly kindness bestowed by the devoted women who formed this corps on the brave but unfortunate soldiers of the Union will live in history by the side of the honorable achievements of Florence Nightingale in the Crimea. Miss Dorothea L. Dix, the superintendent of the Corps, has resigned and the Corps itself has been disbanded. Othello's occupation's gone, but the self-sacrificing part displayed by these ladies will be a monument to their memory.

JUDAH P. BENJAMIN

has it is said gone to Australia for the purpose of practicing at the bar in that (as Horace Greely says) future State. He will scarcely be missed in this country, and may perhaps raise up in a new sphere a decent reputation. Pity a good many more of the same species of traitorous vermin do not accompany him.

THE CORN CROPS AT THE EAST.

Accounts of the corn crops vary. From the East I hear that the extreme heat of the past few weeks has injured its prospects materially. Per contra an old farmer residing up the Hudson told me the said weather was just what was needed to ripen the crops. From what I have seen myself I judge the latter story the correct one as regards this State at any rate.

TEA IN GEORGIA

A man who has been cultivating tea, as an experiment, since 1860, writes to the Savannah Herald that most of his plants grow finely, that his tea is of good quality, and the plants will do quite as well in Georgia as in their native country. The plants require no culture after the third year if well taken care of by that time they will be large enough to commence the manufacture of tea from them. The yield to the acre is from three to four hundred pounds, and the plants produce good crops for eighteen or twenty years. The growth of tea is not affected by dry or wet weather, or by storms, and insects will not molest the plants.

TAXES IN TEXAS.

Gov. Hamilton of Texas has recently issued a proclamation ordering the assessment of a direct ad valorem tax of twelve and a half cents upon each hundred dollars value of property, real and personal, except such property as may be exempt from taxation by the laws in force prior to the 2d day of March, A. D. 1861. He also orders an assessment of a poll tax of $1 for each voter, license and occupation taxes under the laws prior to 1861.

A BORGIA IN CONNECTICUT.

A woman named Goff, has been arrested at New London, Conn., charged with poisoning the Durivan family. She lives in the house with them and was detected, Saturday night, putting some arsenic into a vessel containing some meat and cabbage belonging to Mrs. Gleason, another tenant of the same house. After her arrest she stabbed herself under the arm, but did not inflict a dangerous wound.

THE PACIFIC MAIL COMPANY

The consolidation of the Atlantic and Pacific Mail Steamship Companies, is an important event, and makes the greatest steamship combination on the American continent. The number of steamships owned by the two companies is twenty five, nearly all of them first class; and well known to the traveling public. The aggregate tonnage is about 7,000 tons, and their passenger capacity equal to nearly 25,000 persons. The lines between New York and Aspinwall, and Panama and San Francisco, and also on the California Coast will be continued as heretofore. The China line is to be added, which in itself, will be a great source of wealth to the new corporation. A line between New York and Liverpool or Southampton will probably be started at no distant day, and the trips between the Atlantic and Pacific States will be more frequent. Other lines may be opened from time to time as the large number of vessels at the command of the combination will enable them to send steamers in any direction that steam navigation would pay a remunerative return.

The Atlantic Mail Company is to receive one fifth of the entire earnings, instead of three tenths of the California line alone, as heretofore. This company also receives two millions in stock of the Pacific Mail Company, as their portion of the surplus now in the treasury of that company, and the Pacific Mail calls up one million of dollars on their scrip stock. The Atlantic Mail has a handsome surplus on hand, which reverts to their stock holders, the Pacific Mail not receiving any portion of it. Each company is to retain its distinctive organization, and the stock will be called at the Stock Exchange the same as before. The Atlantic Mail is to have a representation in the Pacific Mail direction.

The joint capital of the two companies will be about ten millions, and their steamers could not be built at present for anything like this sum. This consolidation does away with the prospect of any more lines to California, and the only opposition will be the Central American Transit Company via Nicaragua.

ARIZONA.

Secretary McCormick, of Arizona, has just married a lady from Massachusetts, and sails in the New York to-morrow for Arizona via San Francisco with his bride. The Treasury Department has highly complimented his conduct of the Territorial finances.

The friends of Secretary McCormick gave him a most sumptuous entertainment at the Astor House last Friday evening, and the honors were well presided over on the occasion by ex-Gov. John A. King, assisted by Major General Heintzleman, Col. Conkling and others. In response to a complimentary introductory by Gov. King, Secretary McCormick responded in a forcible and modestly earnest manner, eloquently predicting the glorious future which awaits Arizona, and detailed some of the experiences of that embryotic sister State. Colonel Conkling and Colonel Preston, both Arizonians, followed, in glowing terms setting forth the productiveness of the Territory, and that energy which characterizes its inhabitants, and which is destined to build it up to a standard equal to any State in our Union. The affair was graced by the presence of many distinguished men, and was eminently successful in every respect.

SEVEN HUNDRED YOUNG WOMEN,

thirty or forty families, and twenty young men, will sail next week in the steamship Continental for Washington Territory, under the auspices of Mr Mercer. That gentleman is now in this city perfecting the final arrangements. The whole expense to him is estimated at $79,000 to $80,000, and his receipts from the girls and other emigrants at $10,000. He trusts to the future for the repayment of the rest.

SOUTHERN TRADE.

It is stated that of the very large sum due to one of our most prominent dry goods houses from the rebellious States, before the war, about seventy five per cent. has already been realized. The old system of credits is not, however, to be renewed, and merchants from the South are apparently satisfied that for cash and short credits, they can obtain goods cheaper, and make more money.

TRIAL TRIP OF THE STEAMER HENRY CHAUNCEY.

The splendid new side-wheel steamship Henry Chauncey, built for the Panama line, departed yesterday afternoon on her trial trip. A select party of gentlemen interested in ocean steam navigation, and more especially in the Panama route, were on board. The trial trip will last some days, as it is the object of the owners to develop, by practical tests, her sea-going qualities and speed. The trip will, it is understood, be extended to Newport, Boston and Portsmouth, N. H.

THE STEAMSHIP HAVANA

Took the place of the Costa Rica, and has sailed for Rio Janeiro as the first vessel of the new Brazil line.

AMUSEMENTS—A THEATRICO-NEWSPAPER WAR,

Has been going on here during the past month. Max Maretzek has been "pitching into" Bennett, of the Herald, and there has been a pretty spicy expose of the alleged modus operandi (no pun intended) of obtaining dead head tickets, etc. None of the public seemed to care a "red" about it, viewing it as a business affair between the two parties. Now, the managers of the theaters have entered the arena—had a meeting—voted not to advertise in the Herald, nor allow the introduction of their houses of the advertising sheet which professed to give the nightly programmes, and which was printed at the Herald job office. The Herald this morning laughs at the effort of the managers, and intimates that hereafter, the criticisms will be of the most unbiassed description so far as they are concerned. Undoubtedly the Herald will continue to be published! A dog barked at the sun once, but it kept right on! Our theaters are all well patronized. The opera in consequence of Maretzek's war with the Herald, is drawing unprecedented audiences. The troupe is a very good one, and gives satisfaction to music lovers. E. L. Davenport, considered by many the best American actor, after Booth, has become a leading member of Wallack's company. The Ravels are playing at Niblo's, Madame Celeste at the Broadway, and J. S. Clarke at the Winter Garden. These, and all the rest of our theaters, are doing well. In fact, there seems to be no more profitable business at present than that of amusing the public.

SPORTING.

There have been two prize fights near Philadelphia. I regret to state that neither of the combatants were killed or seriously injured. Much more reputable have been the cricket and base ball matches, of which there have been a great many. At the former game the "Young Americas," an exclusively Yankee club from Philadelphia, whipped the vaunted St. Georges (Britishers) of this city in very handsome style. At base ball the champion Atlantics, of Brooklyn, have met and conquered all comers. They have made tours to Washington and Boston, and beaten the best players of those cities. The Eckfords, Mutual and hundreds of other clubs have played matches, and even the firemen and printers occasionally had a friendly game at what is now the national pastime. Horse racing has also been plentiful and some very good time has been shown. [illegible] Flora Temple appeared in public the other day, and though beaten, made a half mile in 1:10½ trotting. We have also had a great boat race at Sing Sing, in which the celebrated brothers Ward, of Newburg, defeated the Biglin brothers of this city. Sporting has been very active.

Throughout South western Virginia there is peace and plenty, and the growing corn crop is unparalleled for its promise of abundance.

The Daily Oregonian.

[illegible] PAPER OF THE STATE

THURSDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 2 1865

The Bitter Root Valley

By the last mail from the upper country we have further [illegible] of this valley. Our correspondent [illegible] highly pleased with the locality and [illegible] great [illegible] future. The [illegible] great length of his communication renders it inconvenient for us to publish the whole. We avail ourselves of a few of the most interesting items.

The valley is represented as about 75 miles long and from three to fifteen miles in width, well watered and of great fertility. The productions thus far have been wheat, barely, oats and vegetables of all kinds usually produced on this coast. Grain is easily raised but vegetables require irrigation, which is easy to secure by means of the numerous creeks that flow across the valley and the Bitter Root river, which runs along the west side. Farming is very profitable, a market for every sort of produce right at the farmer's door, wheat at $8 a bushel, potatoes $4 a bushel, and onions twenty five cents a pound, and other things in proportion.

The population numbers about three hundred and fifty, mostly immigrants who have recently arrived from the Western States.

The demand for goods and produce is likely to be heavy next season, and large quantities from this direction is thought could be disposed of at large profits.

The grasshoppers have been very destructive this season in the valley, notwithstanding which there are several fine fields of wheat, the finest of which was Major Owens. On the 15th of September Major Owens completed a flouring mill, which is represented as a very good one, built in the most approved style, with the latest improvements. The Major has a fine farm, about six hundred and forty acres under fence and a large part cultivated—and seems to be prospering.

The farmers of that valley are very anxious to have a wagon road opened to Lewiston, and represent themselves as able and willing to bear one half of the expense of its construction. They expect to receive their groceries and dry goods from Oregon and Idaho.

We are of opinion, from what we can learn of that locality, that it must ere long be the abode of a wealthy and prosperous community. Is it not a proper inquiry whether its trade be not worth securing, and would it not pay the Portland merchants to assist in opening communication with those people?

GRANT COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT.—At a late term of the Circuit Court for Grant County, the criminal business was considerable, and four persons were sent to the Penitentiary. Joseph Henry was found guilty of arson, and sentenced to seven years imprisonment. Jacob Canady and William Watson, who stole the money of J. D. Love, were each sent down for six years. A negro servant connected with the Fourteenth Regulars, and a white soldier named Gallagher, were put on trial for stealing the goods and effects of Lieutenant Boone, Adjutant of the First Oregon Infantry, at Vancouver. The negro was awarded a residence on a plea of guilty, in the Penitentiary for two years, and the white man, on the same plea, was sentenced to three months in the county jail. There was one conviction for assault and exhibition of a deadly weapon—fined $250. No indictments for gambling or infraction of the Sunday Law.

OPIUM SMUGGLING.—The Mountaineer is informed that the large force of Chinamen now at work on the Columbia, near Colville, are supplied with opium smuggled overland from the adjacent British province. This lucrative trade is encouraged by the absence of any force in the section of country where the trails from British Columbia cross the boundary. There are also circumstances which give rise to the belief that illicit traffic between British Columbia and other parts of the upper country is carried on, the articles being jewelry, laces and the like. The commercial relations of the people of the two nations along the boundary line affords a fine field of official inspection. Whenever it is undertaken, the developments will startle the Treasury Department.

AN ARGUMENT WHICH CUTS BOTH WAYS.—The Mobile Tribune urges Southern men to qualify themselves to vote, as a measure of self protection. It says:

We can only acquire rights by the use of the means prescribed by the law, and the essential qualification for this purpose is the right of suffrage. A little while ago the musket was the arbiter. Now it is the ballot box. We cannot resume the gun, and without that, or with it, how can we better protect ourselves than by the ballot and not the cartridge-box? We should like some learned philosopher to tell us how it can be better done than by the mode that we suggest.

A LADY'S YACHT.—A lady's yacht is thus described in a letter from Cherbourg, France:

Besides the yachts (English) organized in a division, a great many others have arrived and have anchored in the roadstead, opposite the mercantile port. One of them belongs to a widow lady, who commands it herself. She has with her a daughter of eleven, a son of fourteen, a governess and three women servants. Under order she has twelve sailors, besides an experienced merchant captain, who she has taken into her pay, and who assists her with his advice, but does not command the ship. The lady is gracious and amiable, and speaks French correctly. Her vessel is in perfect order. She told us that it would be open to all visitors during the fetes—that her captain would receive the gentlemen and she the ladies.

VALOROUS.—The San Francisco Flag says: One of the most ludicrous spectacles ever seen in this comical world is afforded by the editor of the Examiner. From the first action at Sumter to the final practical declaration of peace nobody heard of him. Democratically speaking, he wasn't around much. But, after Beriah Brown and "Long Primer Hall" had run the Democratic machine through the valley and shadow of death, one getting in Alcatraz and the other getting out of San Francisco under [illegible], up pops the editor of the Examiner from a gopher hole in Tehama county, reconnoiters the situation, and finding all safe, jumps into Beriah's shoes and starts on the war-path, whooping like a Comanche.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE THE TYCOON.—The latest Japanese news announces the discovery and frustration of a plot to assassinate the Tycoon. A subject, who had joined in the scheme that he might thwart it, rushed into the Tycoon's presence and said: "Do not rest at Hondha Sama's palace to-night according to your original intention. Preparations have been made to destroy you by means of gunpowder. The whole house has been undermined." He then to verify the truth of his story committed "kari kiri," or "the happy dispatch." The poor fellow suffered dreadfully, but he died smilingly, saying "I have done my duty."

The total annual product of coffee in the world is set down in a recent circular at an average of about six hundred and seventy two million pounds, or about three hundred thousand tons. Half of this is produced in Brazil. About fifty thousand tons come from Ceylon, 25,000 tons from St. Domingo, and the remainder from a variety of other countries in or near the Torrid Zone.

The Canadian public debt exceeds 75,000,000, more than three fourths of which, strange to say, has been incurred within the last ten years. Political affairs in the Provinces are represented as in a very "ticklish" condition.

In Massachusetts a law has just been passed forbidding licensing of any exhibition intended or calculated to bring any person into contempt on account of his color. The intent of this law is to suppress minstrel performances.

It is stated that at the temperance convention at Saratoga that thirteen hundred rich men's daughters in New York are applicants for admission to the asylum as inebriates at Binghampton.

The oldest newspaper in the civilized world is the Gazette de Paris. It is now in its two hundred and thirty fifth year.

A Registry Law

[illegible] in a [illegible] the second section of the [illegible] a registry law [illegible] of the Assembly further to [illegible] the right and exercise of suffrage. It [illegible] that there have been hitherto [illegible] very serious abuses [illegible] any flagrant [illegible] in the future [illegible] done and greater [illegible] is indispensable to [illegible]. It is said that the late immigration is [illegible] active [illegible] and participants [illegible] war who [illegible] defeated at home [illegible] in all their schemes of destruction [illegible] Oregon [illegible] their [illegible] and civilization [illegible] prevented by [illegible] interference [illegible] our local authorities.

Whether a correct judgment has been passed upon the said immigrants [illegible] I have no certain means of knowing. But supposing the case to be exactly as stated, the point at present is what can be done. It is undoubtedly a matter greatly to be deprecated to have the liberal policy of our young State overthrown, to have the proud position of loyalty and devotion to the Union, hitherto maintained by our people, exchanged for one of State Rights and repudiation and [illegible], to have the hopes of peace and continued sympathy on the part of our people with all that is wise and liberal and progressive in the Nation blasted by a sudden avalanche of barbarism, secession, and treason into our midst. If such a catastrophe can be prevented by a proper legislative act, then let it be passed, at the hazard of no other consideration. Democracy [illegible] can be prevented from taking root in our polities, by any legitimate means, let such be devised and put in use.

But the proposition is to prevent the [illegible] consequences of the influx of supposed secessionists by enacting a registry law. What the details or specific provisions of the proposed law are to be is not stated. It is to be presumed however that provision is to be made after the manner of the State of New York and some of the other States for a registration of voters [illegible] some time before every election and [illegible] the day of the poll, allowing none to vote whose names are not in the lists made up by the registers, and to exclude from registry all who do not take a certain oath to be prescribed by the statute. It is supposed that active participation in the rebellion, or opposition to the Government of the Union, will be declared a disqualification, and so it is hoped all those mentioned above may be prevented from voting.

If such a law could be constitutionally enacted and could be made to effectuate the object proposed, it would be not merely a proper thing to be done, but the solemn duty of our legislators to do it. The object of this communication, however, is to ask you, Mr. Editor, if there be not some danger in an attempt of this sort of going beyond and of contravening the provisions of our own constitution? What particular acts other States may have passed can be no guide or precedent for us unless our constitution is so framed as to allow the like legislation here. It may not be out of place to quote at length the principal provisions of our constitution bearing on this subject. Article II Section 2, reads as follows: "In all elections not otherwise provided for by this constitution, every white male citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty one years, who shall have resided in the State during the six months immediately preceding such election, and every white male of foreign birth who shall have resided [illegible] * * * * shall be entitled to vote at all elections authorized by law."

Section 8 is as follows: "The Legislative Assembly shall enact laws to support the privilege of free suffrage, prescribing the manner of regulating and conducting elections, and prohibiting under adequate penalties all undue influence therein from power, bribery, tumult and other improper conduct."

These provisions declare the right of the voter and the duty and power of the Assembly. There are other provisions referring to classes of persons who are not included within the provisions of Section 2, and declaring certain disqualifications, but there are no provisions strictly applicable to the persons alluded to in this communication.

It will be perceived that age, citizenship of the United States and residence in this State are the only qualifications prescribed by the organic law, and every white male possessing these "shall be entitled to vote."

It can hardly be contended that section 8 confers upon the Assembly or authorizes it to exercise any power in regard to voting, except so far as relates to the manner in which the votes of qualified electors shall be received and declared. This section can hardly be held to go back of section 2 and authorize the prescribing of qualifications not prescribed by section 2. It may be that an oath should be required of a voter, but is it not questionable whether there be any right to require more than section 2 requires, unless it be to ascertain that the party is not in the position of some of those who are specially disqualified—for example that he has not been convicted of felony, that he is not a soldier, seaman or marine, &c., as specified in sections 3, 5 and 6 of the same article. In other words can the negative averments in the oath properly go any further than the negative specifications of the constitution?

Now, Mr. Editor, allow me to ask these questions: Are not all persons who before the rebellion were citizens of the United States still citizens by virtue of the Amnesty Proclamation of the President, even though they served in the rebel army? Are not all white male citizens of the United States, of the requisite age and having resided in this State the requisite time "entitled to vote," unless they have forfeited the right by conviction of felony, or fall within the excepted classes of soldiers or seamen, &c.?

I shall not at this time pretend to answer these questions further than the answer may be suggested by what I have said above. I will add, however, that if our organic law was different I should make no question of the power of the Assembly to enact such a law as has been suggested. Yet such a law, I apprehend, would scarcely accomplish all that its advocates claim for it. If such a law were properly passed, and had all the validity that any law could have, I presume that the worst characters, those for whom, in fact, it should be made, would not in the least be affected by it.

The original bushwhackers and guerrillas and rebels from choice would find no more difficulty in committing perjury in order to vote, than they did in committing murder in order to steal. Such a law would unquestionably keep away from the polls many "honest rebels," and the result would only be to "invest the 'Democracy' of the road to [illegible] respectability, without overcoming in the least its malignity. REPUBLICAN.

Our correspondent "Republican" has advanced some views regarding a registry law which we propose to notice hereafter. We have before this intimated our views upon this subject. Our columns are open to the discussion of matters of public interest, but the views of correspondents must not be mistaken for the position of the OREGONIAN upon any matter.

These girls arrived here with [illegible] others from New York on the steamer [illegible] They assert that they are the daughters of respectable parents residing near Boston and that they were engaged to Sarah Palmer, ostensibly to work at an honorable business in California. The Pacific Commercial Advertiser of September 23d was received last evening from which we glean the following

Drunkenness gambling and horse racing prevail to a fearful extent in Wailuku.

The health of R C Wyllie Minister of Foreign Affairs is in a very critical state

A Normal School for Hawaiians is in successful operation in Honolulu

The American bark [illegible] Brooks arrived at Honolulu on the 18th of September. Nothing is reported of the bark [illegible]. The British gunboat Sparrowhawk arrived from Callao on the 22d

Mr J R Williams of Hilawa informs us that in company with a foreigner, he went into the mountains in search of honey last Saturday and succeeded in finding about sixty pounds in one koa tree. Bees have multiplied very fast since their introduction.

The United States steamer Saranac sailed on Sunday last. We hear that she will proceed to the Marquesas group, as a report was current in San Francisco that a lot of coal had been landed at Fatuhiva, possibly for the Shenandoah. The Saranac may keep on to Sydney or may turn about and visit this port again in the course of six weeks

The Advertiser is publishing a series of articles on cane juice and says, they may be dry reading to some but as the sugar interests are the most important at the present time and as many of our readers are intimately connected in developing them, we ask the indulgence of such as are not interested. The paper was originally in French, and has been translated

Of the ninety five whalers bound north last Spring eighty four were American, five Hawaiian three Oldenburg, two French and one British. Of this number twenty five have surely been burned—four at Ascension, one in the Ochotsk sea and twenty in the Arctic ocean. Four have been bonded, and four are reported as burning, which leaves sixty-two to be heard from

We are informed that the Leprosy Hospital at Kalihi, will be finished and ready for the first instalment of cases for examination in about two weeks. It is intended to keep for treatment such as may be suffering in the first stages of leprosy while the confirmed cases will be sent to Molokai immediately, the necessary grounds having been secured for that purpose.

The Consul for Chile, entertained the Consular and Diplomatic Corps and a large number of citizens, at the Consulate, on the occasion of the anniversary of Chilean Independence on Monday, the 18th. A handsome collation was provided, and after it was discussed, "The prosperity of the Chilean Republic" was duly toasted. His Excellency, the United States Minister Resident then proposed "The health of His Majesty, Kamehameha V," which was duly honored. After some other toasts, "The memory of the late Mr Stapenhorst, a former member of the Consular Corps, was drank in silent respect. A sentiment proposed by His Excellency the Minister of Finance to "the increasing harmony and good will among the various nationalities represented in our community," was cordially responded to. The occasion was a spirited and happy one and all present seemed inclined to honor the holiday of the most prosperous of the South American Republics

THE PRESIDENT AND THE PACIFIC RAILROAD. The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer makes the following statements

The President has decided to approve the change of location of the Union Pacific Railroad west from Omaha, proposed by the company on condition that the grade be reduced to 30 feet to the mile between the Missouri river and the Platte Valley. This change from the route originally contemplated will add about nine miles to the length of the road, but the great advantage gained in the reduced grade will more than compensate for the increased distance. The new route will have an easy grade of not more than 30 feet to the mile from Omaha clear to the base of the Rocky Mountains.

The change was recommended about a year ago by the Civil Engineer Corps of the Railroad Company, who, after exploration of the surrounding country, discovered a mountain pass a few miles to the southward of the route first surveyed through which the road can be run, and which saves an immense amount of grading and heavy work in construction, and increased facility in working the road after it is built

The proposed change of route was brought to the attention of President Lincoln a short time before his death, but that unfortunate event delayed the consideration of the proposition, and it was turned over to President Johnson among the unfinished business of his predecessor.

Soon after assuming control of public affairs President Johnson, feeling desirous of having the fullest and most accurate information upon the subject, and unwilling to increase the length of the road even for nine miles, unless it could be shown that great advantages would be secured thereby, despatched Lieut Col Simpson of the United States Engineer Corps, to examine the location of both the old and new routes, and report all the facts. Lieut Col Simpson performed that duty in the most thorough manner, and having personally examined both routes, strongly recommended the proposed change, and upon this recommendation the President has acted. Appended to the report of Col. Simpson were tables exhibiting the immense saving of time and rolling stock which will be effected in the running of the trains over the new route compared with the old one, which would require the trains to be divided going and returning, over the heavy grade, upwards of one hundred feet to the mile.

NEW YORK STATE INEBRIATE ASYLUM.—The idea of treating drunkenness as a disease first originated in this country. Dr. Turner, Superintendent of the New York Asylum was the first to promulgate the idea which has taken the practical form of a hospital where intemperates are received and treated medically. The Doctor has had great experience and since the idea first suggested it to his mind, he has visited many of the hospitals and asylums of Europe, and studied the effect of alcoholism on different races. An application for a charter was made to the New York Legislature, as early as 1853, which was rejected. The idea was novel and the Legislature hesitated about granting the power necessary to make the treatment efficacious. The application was renewed and a petition in behalf of the institution was presented to the Legislature signed by more than 1,500 physicians, including Dr. Mott and others of the most celebrated in New York city. The State Medical Society fully endorsed the plan, as have also the leading medical journals. The asylum is situated near the village of Binghampton in the midst of the most delightful scenery in the State. It is surrounded by four hundred acres of land, partly the gift of the citizens of Binghampton, which is laid out into walks and drives for the benefit of the inmates. It stands upon a plateau elevated some two hundred feet above the Susquehanna river, which meanders through rich meadows skirted by hills, many of which are cultivated to the top. We have never seen a more delightful prospect. It includes hill, valley, meadows, the Susquehanna and Chenango rivers, the village, the railroads, the canal, a mixture of cultivated and natural beauty not often brought together. The building is of the Gothic style built of white limestone and consists of a central edifice with two wings. The central building contains a spacious hall, parlors, offices, etc., and an elegant chapel is to be constructed in the upper story. Behind the building are glass covered halls designed for a winter garden. Every effort has been made to make the building and its surroundings attractive and there is not a more delightful spot in the State. Dr Mott was the first President and after his death Dr Willard Parker one of the most successful physicians of the city was elected to the office. Patients are received for not less than one year, and may be committed by the courts or may enter voluntarily upon signing a contract to be governed by the rules. The charter gives the trustees power to retain and control patients of both sexes. They are mainly treated [illegible] the idea of the institution being to effect a permanent cure. Some require a treatment of several years others of course prove incurable. Among the patients are men of the first standing. Some idea of the popularity of the institution may be formed from the fact that there have been over seven thousand applications for admission. Many of the patients are from Europe the British provinces Mexico [illegible]. There are over eight hundred females.

The establishment has the confidence of the medical faculty and as it is the first of its kind the experiment will be watched with the greatest interest. The evil of intemperance has defied the laws, the restraints of public opinion and the teachings of morality. Whether it will yield to the efforts of science is a question whose solution will enlist the attention of every philanthropist.

The rapidity with which a generation passes from the earth is well illustrated by the census of the North western States in 1860, which gives the nativities of the inhabitants. In these States which had in 1810 only 1,106,626 inhabitants we find in 1860 a population of 10,219,4[illegible] and of this number several millions were born in the North west. The number born in New York was 612,000; in New England, 291,000, and in the Southern States, 645,000. The German population numbered about 800,000; the Irish 400,000, and other Europeans 300,000.

State Items

The long established and well known firm of [illegible] H. C. Moores, of Salem, have sold their [illegible] Breyman

During the past week says the Jacksonville [illegible] of the 28th our town has been crowded with freight teams, and our streets were made lively by the merry tinkle of many bells attached to the horses of the sturdy draught horses

Mr H C Myer has returned to his home at [illegible] which he will [illegible] in the Willamette Valley. Mr Myer took more [illegible] any other one man [illegible] nothing can well [illegible]

Judge Prim held a term of court in Josephine county last week. The docket was quite light. There were [illegible] Phoenix Rose [illegible] robbery. Antonio Joseph as an accessory and [illegible] larceny. Rose will be remembered [illegible] last spring was sent next to the penitentiary for five years, the extreme limit of the law. The other two [illegible] were acquitted. Court was in session only three days.

A horrible tale of murder is going the rounds of Salem which is supposed to have occurred during the late State Fair. After several attempts to get at the foundation, the Review says we have learned that a money belt, two purses and a memorandum book were found under the river bank, below the ferry landing supposed to belong to a man name unknown [illegible] from the Molalla river. A brother of the missing man, came to the city in search of him but no trace has yet been discovered. A horse was left tied to a tree in the streets of this city about that time for three days, when it was released by Mr Mossman and advertised. The gentleman in search of his brother, has we understand identified the saddle found on the horse as belonging to his brother. The missing man owned or had some interest in a horse that was at the State Fair and is supposed to have had considerable money in his possession.

Mr I M Wagner left at our office last week, says the Jacksonville Sentinel, a sample of syrup manufactured by him from sorghum or Chinese sugar cane. This plant grows well in this section of country and promises to be a valuable staple. Mr Wagner says it will yield from one to two hundred gallons of syrup to the acre. He also says that by two experiments of the last [illegible] is suited to its growth, one on the rich sandy loam of Wagner Creek bottom and the other high up on black sticky land he has decided in favor of the latter as being the better adapted to the culture of sorghum. We think that farmers should give this plant a fair trial. All know that our sugar and syrup have to be imported at great expense and although the importation could not be stopped entirely, a very considerable revenue could be saved to our country by the culture of this sugar cane, and the time would not be far distant when we [illegible] to export. This syrup is used in large quantities in the north western States especially in the rural districts. It can also be used with advantage in curing meats more particularly beef and pork hams.

The proprietor of a new crockery and grocery store in Salem known as Norman Smith [illegible] [illegible] ask [illegible] his [illegible] and his stock of [illegible] Fisher [illegible] the establishment and left the neighbors [illegible] themselves. His creditors were Mr Smith [illegible] Dearborn & Co [illegible] San Francisco and one or two others. Smith left his wife behind. Considerable doubt is expressed relative to the propriety of the [illegible] in the matter. It was a bold stroke of policy and may prove disastrous. It is the first instance of a failure of any kind ever occurring among the merchants of Salem. Oregon merchants particularly those doing business in this valley are freely trusted in San Francisco. This fellow Smith or whatever his name is is a renegade from Salt [illegible]. He came here last April and made his boast that he would [illegible] these western merchants and traders how Yankees did business and sure enough he did, though about the only ones "yanked" were the San Francisco creditors. The Smith family, generally, desire it understood that the fellow is not really one of the family. He only assumed their good name to deceive people. No real Smith would do the like.

SOUTHERN ESTIMATION OF COPPERHEADS.—The Albany Evening Journal reports the son of a distinguished Southern Statesman, now visiting the north, as saying

We are loyal, the great mass of us—far more loyal than some of your own people. You can far better afford to trust us than you can your miserable Copperheads. They are the vilest offscourings of the earth. Had it not been for them we should not have rushed into war. And yet they have the impudence to come to us claiming to be our friends, advising us to be stiff necked and asking us to strike hands with them and form a new alliance. The vipers! They have cheated us once, they will never cheat us again. We had rather trust the vilest abolitionist that ever howled and hounded us down, than the best of them

PIZARRO.—In Lima a mummied skeleton is exhibited which is said by some to be that of Pizarro. One of the hands was cut off and stolen some years ago, and a few superstitious people say that the vital force returned and the hand grew out again. Not long ago a pair of old mouldy shoes were sold at a high price to an antiquary. But their value as relics of the great conqueror was seriously depreciated on a subsequent critical examination by the discovery on them of the nearly obliterated stamp of a Lynn manufactory. Pizarro was buried in 1541, and what are supposed to be his remains are now exhibited in the Cathedral of Lima. Another great man claimed by Peru, Simon Bolivar, is honored at Lima by a bronze equestrian statue, cast at Munich in 1858.

The population of the Lake Cities, leaving out Chicago, which has not been taken this year stands as follows: Buffalo, 91,685; Cleveland 61,156; Milwaukie, 5[illegible],000; Detroit, 51,581

A discount of [illegible] per cent. will be allowed on all amounts paid before the expiration of ten days. Any Stock on which said assessment shall remain unpaid on the 20th day of November next will be advertised as that day as delinquent, and unless payment shall be made before will be sold on the 20th day of December 1865 to pay the delinquent assessment together with costs of advertising and expenses of sale.
